

1. Look at the map and fill in the names of the buildings and roads. Start at 'You are here' each time.

1. The school is near the end of the road on the left.
2. The post office is at the end of the road, opposite the school.
3. Take the first on the right. It is called Green Street. The restaurant is at the end of Green Street on the right.
4. The railway station is in Green Street opposite the restaurant.
5. The school and the post office are in London Street.
6. The bank is next to the school. It is right at the end of the road.
7. Turn right into Green Street. On the right is the bakery and on the left is a hotel.
8. The second road on the left is Market Street. Turn left into market street, on the right is the cinema.

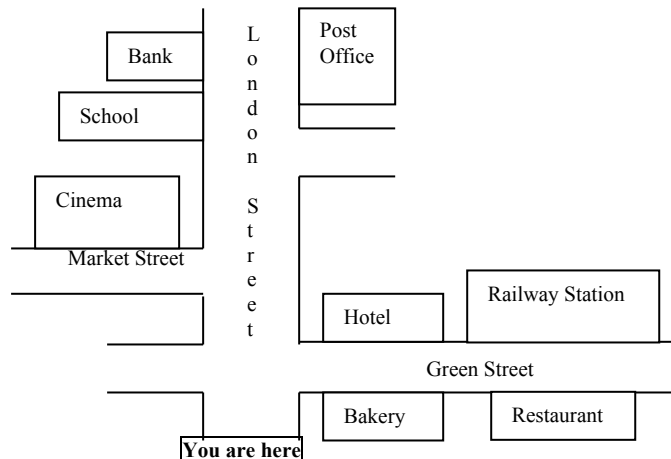

Teacher's notes

Language focus: Understanding directions
Time (approx.): 20 minutes
Preparation: Photocopy one worksheet for each student

- Using the worksheet:
- It may be a good idea to introduce the idea by drawing a map on the board and marking a position to start.
 - Tell students that you are going to give them the instructions and they have to come to the board and mark the names of the roads and buildings.
 - For example, say, At the end of the road on the left is the school. Now draw a square to represent the school and write the word School in the box.
 - Now say, The school is in Green Road and write Green Road in the appropriate place on the map.
 - Continue in this way but invite the students up to label all the things.
 - Hand out the worksheet.
 - Explain to the students that they have to read the instructions and complete the map. Tell them to label the buildings and the roads.
 - Once the students have done the exercise, draw a completed map on the board with all the correct road names and labels so that the students can check their work.

Answers:

- Additional ideas:
- Continue the exercise by describing more things on the map but this time as a listening exercise. See if the students can follow your instructions and add the extra things.
 - Here are some examples
 1. There is a library in Market Street, opposite the cinema.
 2. There is a supermarket on the corner of Market Street and London Street, next to the Post Office.
